

Dr. Karami,

I just wanted you to know how much I appreciate your patience and skill. It means so much to me that you took the time to make Ariel's experience so safe and trusting that she walked away and said, "It was a good thing that my tooth came out." Something that could have been a nightmare was turned into a beautiful lesson in strength, love, and trust. Thank you for being a good dentist. I pray that your work will be honored and you and your family will receive many blessings.

One who is generous will be blessed.

A simple thank-you
is not enough!
