When Dr. Mash Ameri admits he was going for the 'wow factor' in his office design, he certainly doesn't disappoint. His state-of-the-art office was over two years in the making—from the initial design to the day he and his team greeted their first patients.

Dr. Ameri knows that dental offices are sometimes associated with less-than-pleasant experiences, so his goal was to create a space that welcomed patients and put them at ease. "From the moment you first enter the lobby, we want you to feel comfortable," he said. From the soothing, nature-inspired décor to the complimentary beverage bar and roomy chairs, you'll immediately relax and enjoy your surroundings. In fact, you can go online and take a 3D tour of the office before even scheduling your first appointment.

The commitment to your comfort is carried throughout the office. Each private procedure room gives you a relaxing floor-to-ceiling view of the outdoors and comes equipped with, massage chairs and state-of-the-art technology to ensure you stay informed of your treatment plan and progress. A ceiling-mounted screen allows you to watch your favorite movie or television program during your treatment while also providing you with invaluable educational videos.

"We also have a smile simulator which photographs a patient's smile and then creates an image of what a smile makeover could do," Dr. Ameri said. "For example, we can virtually whiten, close gaps, replace teeth and highlight other cosmetic enhancements to help patients visualize their improved smile.

And while it's only natural to experience some apprehension about your dental appointment, Dr. Ameri wants to assure his patients that his commitment to them is not a passing concern. That's why he offers sedation dentistry to maximize patient comfort, including:

- Nitrous Oxide or "laughing gas"—can evoke a general sense of well-being, relieve anxiety and reduce pain
- Oral Conscious Sedation—administered prior to procedure and produces a moderate state of sedation

"People like to go where they're most comfortable," Dr. Ameri said. "We hear all the time about how happy patients are with our care and that begins the minute they walk through our doors. I'm very detail-oriented and meticulous—from the care and planning it took to design our office to the care and planning devoted to each patient's treatment. That's what my patients can expect from me."

Meet Mash Ameri, D.D.S., Fellow of the International Congress of Oral Implantologists

Dr. Ameri graduated from The University of Texas School of Dentistry, Houston in 1992 and worked as a hospital administrator at Hermann Hospital during dental school. In 1993, he completed a General Practice Residency program at the University of Texas School of Dentistry, Houston. This residency (delivering dental care to medically compromised patients in hospital-based dentistry) provided a solid foundation for the recognition of the total health care needs of patients.

For the past 20 years, Dr. Ameri has stayed committed to his patients, completing hundreds of hours of continuing education courses in all disciplines of dentistry and has a passion for smile makeovers. He has completed numerous advanced cosmetic courses—notably at the Las Vegas Institute for Advanced Dental Studies (LVI) where he is a Preferred LVI Dentist. This is a prestigious dental institute which educates dentists in cosmetic makeovers, while ensuring neuromuscular health and harmony are not compromised during the extensive dental treatment.

- Dr. Ameri is a member of:
- American Dental Association
- American Academy of Cosmetic Dentistry
- World Clinical Laser Institute
- International Congress of Oral Implantologists
- Academy of General Dentistry

Then they can take a printout of that image home with them to consider or share with their spouse."

At Lakeshore Cosmetic Dentistry, Dr. Ameri provides both cosmetic and general dentistry that goes beyond routine care. "Patients want to go to one doctor and have it done right," he said. "Due to my extensive education and training, I'm able to provide multiple procedures that typically eliminate the need to refer patients to a specialist." Dr. Ameri's patients can count on him for:

- cleanings and preventive care—including digital X-rays
- cosmetic procedures—whitening, Lumineers and more
- prosthodontics—dental restorations such as implants, crowns, bridges, partials and full dentures
- orthodontics—Invisalign
- periodontics—maintaining the function, health and aesthetics of the jawbone and tissues
- endodontics—complex and simple procedures to save the natural tooth
- oral and maxillofacial surgery—bone grafting, dental implants, wisdom teeth extractions, etc.
- smile makeovers

Dr. Ameri has a very humble philosophy when it comes to providing care to his patients: "Treat every patient as I would treat a family member," he said. "That includes doing it right the first time so patients don't return with problems in the future."
