

9 Reasons to Have Your Teeth “Professionally Cleaned”!

1 Prevent Gum Disease

Gum disease is a serious infection of your gums and jawbone. It's caused by a sticky film of plaque that forms below your gum line. The bacteria found in plaque produces toxins that can make your gums red, puffy or bleed. The infection can also impact your overall health! Luckily, cleanings can remove plaque deposits, or calculus, from your tooth surfaces.

2 Clean, Fresh Breath

Germs trapped in periodontal (gum) pockets between your teeth and gums can exude a foul odor. Cleanings can reduce oral bacteria and remove decaying food that causes bad breath. Even if you brush and floss regularly, staying on your regular cleaning schedule will help keep your breath fresh and odor-free.

3 There's No Substitute

Despite your best efforts, your toothbrush and floss can't do it all. Plaque that's missed will harden into calculus. To prevent gum disease, “regular teeth cleaning” treatments are the only way to remove those rock-hard, chalky deposits. You may need a “deep cleaning” once gum disease takes hold.

4 It Really Makes a Difference

Our advanced ultrasonic technology leaves you with a “clean” you can feel! Polishing is the final touch. Your now-smooth teeth surfaces will make it harder for plaque to stick to your teeth before your next cleaning. It's the ideal way to re-start your home regimen!

5 Keep Your Teeth

Periodontitis (advanced gum disease) is a major cause of adult tooth loss.

As it progresses from the gum line, bacteria-laden plaque advances toward the roots of your teeth. This can infect and destroy the supporting jawbone and cause your teeth to loosen and fall out. Cleanings can help halt the progression of gum disease.

6 Enjoy a Brighter Smile

Make professional cleaning a part of your oral health program! Dental cleanings not only remove plaque and infection, but they can also remove nasty surface stains for an instantly whiter, brighter smile.

7 Save Time and Money

Don't miss a single cleaning! They can be big money savers in the long run. By maintaining healthier teeth and gums, you can potentially avoid costly procedures down the road—like tooth replacement and gum surgery. That means less time in the dental chair!

8 Master "The Moves"

Our professional cleaning is more than just a cleaning...it's an education! Proper brushing and flossing are essential to your oral health. We'll show you how to improve your home care techniques to achieve the best possible results.

9 It's "Heart Healthy"

A Taiwanese medical study on the impact of dental cleaning was presented at an American Heart Association scientific meeting. More than 100,000 participants were evaluated. Those who had their teeth cleaned at least once a year showed a 24 percent lower risk of heart attack over a 7-year period! Dental cleanings were shown to reduce oral bacteria that lead to chronic infection and inflammation, which has been linked to heart disease or stroke.

If you haven't had your teeth cleaned in the last six months, you could have gum disease without knowing it.

The "Record-Breaking" Strength of LIMPET TEETH!

Until recently "spider silk" was considered one of the strongest natural materials on the planet. A new British study recently discovered something five times stronger: the tiny teeth of limpets, a particular type of sea snail!

The findings, published in the journal, Interface, suggest that the secret to their natural strength may help improve upon man-made composites used to build aircraft, cars, boats, to replace Kevlar used in bullet-proof vests, and yes, possibly even in dental fillings!

The research compared their strength being equivalent to a spaghetti strand hoisting about 3,300 pounds! (Their "tensile strength" is based on the amount of force withstood before breaking.)

Limpets use their rows of ultra-strong choppers to excavate rock for their food and shelter. That's incredible, Mr. Limpet! Wait, that almost sounds like a movie title... ❖
