Specialty / General dentistry

Special interests / Cosmetic and reconstructive dentistry; facial rejuvenation

What sets him apart / Dr. Iati has added Botox and Juvederm to his menu of services. "The face is basically a frame around the smile," he explains. "Anything I can do to accentuate that frame makes (the smile) look even better." He also offers free paraffin hand dips to patients in his chair for services he renders directly.

Education / Undergraduate degree from The Ohio State University; doctorate of dental surgery from Case Western Reserve University; general-practice residency at Western Reserve Care Systems, Youngstown

Affiliations / Fellow of the Academy of General Dentistry (FAGD); member of the American Academy of Cosmetic Dentistry, American Dental Association, Ohio Dental Association and Akron Dental Society

Technologies / Wireless digital X-rays; crowns made in an hour from laser impressions; the Velescope, an instrument that uses light to detect oral cancers at the cellular level; the Diagnodent, a laser cavity detector; the Wand, a computerized anesthetic-delivery system that replaces the conventional syringe; satellite radio and noise-canceling headphones

Most gratifying part of his work / "Restoring a patient's social and physical well-being."
