WFO affiliates and fellows throughout the world helped put an international focus on orthodontics by celebrating the 3rd annual World Orthodontic Health Day on May 15, 2019. The WFO initiated World Orthodontic Health Day on May 15, 2017, also establishing that date going forward as an annual worldwide day to celebrate orthodontic care.

WFO affiliate organizations and other orthodontic groups held a variety of events to celebrate the day in 2019. Among the organizations reporting World Orthodontic Health Day celebrations to the WFO were:

- Thai Association of Orthodontists (ThaAO). Dr. Tanan Jaruprakorn, president, said celebrations were hosted by the orthodontic departments of dental schools at Chulalongkorn, Mahidol University, Srinakarintaravirote and Prince Songkla universities as well as the ThaAO Mobile Orthodontic Unit for Cleft Lip and Palate patients.

- Association of Orthodontists (Singapore). Dr. Ada Low, assistant secretary, reported that association members and some of their patients gathered for a celebration.

- Bangladesh Orthodontic Society. Dr. Md. Kamrul Hasan, Executive Committee member of the Society and assistant professor in the Department of Orthodontics at Chattagram International Dental College in Chittagong, said that in spite of heavy rain, attendance was strong at the orthodontic awareness seminar and rally held at the Chattagram International Dental College. The Society produced 200 T-shirts with the WOHD logo that were given away to attendees at the rally.

- University of Indonesia, Jakarta Orthodontic Department. Dr. Benny M. Soegiharto, program coordinator, said the department celebrated WOHD at its annual Social Community Work with school children at Labuan Bajo, Komodo Island.

- Libyan Orthodontic Society. Dr. Iman Abdelgader, president, said the Society sponsored a half-day event at Benghazi University to which more than 400 high school students were invited. Dr. Abdelgader and Dr. Fatma Elshaiki spoke on orthodontic treatment and faculty members of the university staff education stations and spoke with attendees individually. Attendees also enjoyed a healthy breakfast.
AAO membership requirements changed for international members

The American Association of Orthodontists House of Delegates (HOD) met in Los Angeles in May in conjunction with the 2019 AAO Annual Session. Among resolutions adopted by the HOD were updates to the AAO’s international membership policy that reinstated membership protocols used until 2015.

International AAO members will again be required to have either:

- Completed the full curriculum of an accredited orthodontic program in the United States or Canada; OR
- Maintain an active membership in the WFO on an ongoing basis, rather than only at the time of initial application to the AAO.

“The AAO delegates elected to make this change in recognition of the WFO’s work on strengthening the orthodontic specialty worldwide,” said Dr. Allan R. Thom, WFO president. “Orthodontists throughout the world need to join and support their national organizations in order to be members of the WFO and this is a strong step to improving the integrity of our specialty, maintaining and increasing our standards of excellence and assuring that the needs and safety of our patients will be protected. For the WFO to carry out our commitment to working with orthodontic organizations in every region of the world, we must support our affiliate organizations. The WFO welcomes all members, both new and renewing, to strengthen the specialty worldwide.”

International student members of the AAO will now also again be required to maintain their active membership in the WFO on an ongoing basis, rather than only at the time of initial application. This assures their continued eligibility as students in recognized orthodontic residency programs.

The WFO has maintained very low-cost membership rates for both active and student members and has waived reinstatement fees for those re-activating their membership before May 31, 2020.

The WFO has posted information online to assist international AAO members who do not currently hold WFO membership with any reinstatement questions. If you have questions for the AAO about these policy changes, please contact AAO Member Services by phone at (800) 424-2841 or by email AAOMemberServices@aaortho.org.

Recommended options for observances include but are not limited to:

- Offering World Orthodontic Health Day events hosted by offices or orthodontic departments at their facilities, or by affiliate societies at public venues. Announce events in advance by distributing fliers and contacting local media outlets to help bring many visitors to events. Free consultations or other services may be offered at events if desired. Simply setting up a table outdoors and distributing literature can be an easy way to reach many people.
- Reaching parents, teachers and students by asking to give presentations at schools. In addition to orthodontic treatment, it may be helpful to discuss general dental topics such as hygiene in school presentations.
- Taking out advertisements in local media outlets.
- Contacting media outlets such as radio and television stations and asking to have an orthodontist representative be an on-air guest on an interview program.
- Writing posts about World Orthodontic Health Day on social media platforms (which are also useful for promoting events). If there is information about orthodontic treatment on your organization’s website, link posts to that information.
- Encouraging current and former patients to celebrate as well. Host an in-office office event just for patients and serve treats that are permissible to eat while wearing braces. Offer information about orthodontics that they may take if they wish to, for family members or friends.

Begin Planning Now for World Orthodontic Health Day 2020

The concept for World Orthodontic Health Day was originally developed by the WFO Promotions Committee under the leadership of Dr. Nikhil Vaid, chair, with Dr. Ricardo Machado Cruz and Dr. Yanheng Zhou. They are WFO Executive Committee members for Central and East Asia, Central and South America and Central and East Asia, respectively.

Dr. Vaid was also among those coordinating World Orthodontic Health Day global activities and social media broadcasts to promote the event.

“It was very exciting to see a variety of events celebrating specialty orthodontic care globally this year,” said Dr. Vaid. “We would like to encourage all WFO affiliate organizations to plan celebrations for World Orthodontic Health Day 2020.

“We will have new posters available for 2020 celebrations in the spring, but the 14 existing posters from past years are available for any affiliate wishing to start preparing promotional materials,” added Dr. Vaid. “Simply click on the link and download as many posters as you would like to use. Also, please use the logo that was especially designed for World Orthodontic Health Day. The logo and posters may be used for all print and digital marketing of the day and to promote planned events with printed fliers, social media posts, etc.”

During the 2020 American Association of Orthodontists Annual Session (May 1-4 in Atlanta, Georgia) Dr. Thom will present flags to regional representatives of six regions of the WFO serving on the WFO Executive Committee.

The recipients of the smile flags will be:

- Dr. Thomas Ahman and Dr. Amanda Maplethorp – North America
- Dr. Ricardo Macahado Cruz – South America
- Dr. Panos Skoularikis and Dr. Jonathan Sandler – Europe
- Dr. Joseph Bouserhal – Middle East and Africa
- Dr. Yanheng Zhou, Dr. Keiji Moriyama and Dr. Nikhilesh Vaid – Central and East Asia
- Dr. Himawan Halim – Oceania & South East Asia

These representatives will then return to their respective regions and work with WFO affiliate presidents and other professional, educational and governmental leaders on coordinating appearances and activities with the flag within their regions. The smile flag assigned to each region is to be taken from one event to the next. Events will include both orthodontic conferences and public events.

Each flag will make its public debut on May 15 at a World Orthodontic Health Day Celebration, with subsequent events taking place until shortly before the start of the 9th IOC. Each flag will conclude its journey in Yokohama at events taking place during the 9th IOC at which the Silver Jubilee will be observed. The flags will be stitched or tied together (region by region) as a symbolic gesture of how the “world united” to celebrate this important event in orthodontic history.

The Smile Flag program was developed by the WFO Promotions Committee under the leadership of Dr. Vaid, chair, with Dr. Cruz and Dr. Zhou.

WFO Fellows encouraged to attend Smile Flag Events, Take and Share Photos

“We hope that WFO Fellows throughout the world will respond enthusiastically to the Smile Flag celebrations, by helping plan or attending events featuring the flag,” said Dr. Vaid. “The flags will bring a festive element to an observance of importance to the orthodontic specialty worldwide, over four and a half months of celebration around the globe. The flag is designed to convey the importance of a healthy smile as well as the spirit of excellence within orthodontics. Events featuring the flag will afford opportunities to reach the public with information about orthodontic treatment and to receive media coverage within each region as well. It is also a celebration of a quarter century of organized global efforts of the WFO to promote the specialty of Orthodontics.

“We invite orthodontists to participate enthusiastically and to commemorate events by photographing themselves with the flag and post images on their websites and social media platforms with #WFO@25,” adds Dr. Vaid.

The Regional Representatives have been asked to submit their tentative flag itineraries to Dr. Vaid by January 15, 2020. The six itineraries will be included in the spring issue of the WFO Gazette. Please contact the WFO regional representative in your region if you would like to have a Smile Flag activity at your association meeting, a public healthcare event, in your university department or in your office.

Smile Flag Celebration Possibilities

Both on World Orthodontic Health Day (May 15) and during events taking place when a flag visits a particular city or region, a variety of events could be planned. Examples are listed below. If appropriate, affiliate leaders are encouraged to notify local media about their events and/or to arrange interviews for affiliate leaders to discuss orthodontic treatment and the specialty — and display the international WFO Smile Flag.

1. Painting/art competition
2. 25 trees planted around the world on May 15, 2020
3. Smile /orthodontic awareness run
4. Continuing education lectures
5. Public awareness lectures / advertisements
6. Donated orthodontic services
7. Orthodontic screenings
8. School check-ups/ outreach programs
9. Other types of school projects such as video competitions
10. Selfie with braces competitions
11. Hashtag competitions

For additional ideas, please see the WFO Gazette’s coverage of regional celebrations that took place during World Orthodontic Health Day 2019 on page 4.

*The WFO will not undertake any financial or legal responsibility for flag-related activity. The individual affiliate/fellow hosting an activity as a part of these celebrations is responsible for receiving the flag and for the hand-over of the flag to the individual responsible for the next activity, as per the schedule planned by the WFO Regional Representative and affiliate leaders.

SOCIEDAD ARGENTINA DE ORTODONCIA

The Sociedad Argentina de Ortodoncia (SAO), currently chaired by Dr. Graciela Maffia, was established 85 years ago. To commemorate the anniversary, the organization hosted the 2019 its VIII International Congress of Orthodontics and the 1st International Congress of Orthodontics with Aligners, June 26-29, 2019. Several social events were also included so that attendees could relax, meet old friends and make new friends. During the event, the General Assembly of the Latin American Orthodontics Association (ALADO) also took place. Presidents of all Latin American Orthodontic organizations and the executive committee of the organization discussed current challenges and set goals for the coming years. ALADO has increasingly contributed to the strengthening and unity of the specialty in South America.

A highlight of the congress was the WFO Regional Award of Merit presentation to Dr. Julia Harfin, a significant figure in Argentine, Latin American and worldwide orthodontics. (See more about Dr. Harfin's presentation on page 8.) Dr. Harfin was unanimously chosen to receive the award in recognition of her efforts and leadership in the development of local and regional orthodontic associations. On the occasion, Dr. Harfin also received two more awards: the "Kurt Faltin Jr." award offered by ALADO and presented by its president, Dr. Wulfran Morón; and the certificate of honor offered by the Sociedad Argentina de Ortodoncia (SAO), delivered by Dr. Graciela Maffia, president of the Congress and the SAO.

Dr. Greg J. Huang from the United States gave the Northcroft Memorial Lecture on research into anterior open bite.

Another American colleague, Dr. Jay Bowman, shared his expertise on treatment with aligners and also gave a presentation at the press conference on the dangers and pitfalls of DIY orthodontics. In addition, the meeting included presentations from clinicians and academics across the United Kingdom. Postgraduate students made short presentations and posters on their research and clinical experiences. In addition, as with all British conferences the meeting included social events, providing all attendees with the opportunity to network and converse with friends old and new.

The prestigious Sheldon Friel Lecture was given to a packed auditorium by Dr. Lee Graber (secretary general of the WFO).

All delegates had the opportunity to hear outstanding keynote lectures by speakers representing many countries including by Dr. Marco Rosa (Italy), Dr. Junji Sugawara (Japan), Dr. Ali Darendeliler (Australia), Dr. Simon Littlewood (United Kingdom), Dr. Anna Kari Hajati (Sweden). Dr. Bjorn Zachrisson (Norway), Dr. Peter Ngan (United States), Drs. Dieter Drescher, Paul-Georg Jost-Brinkman and Benedict Wilmes (Germany), and Drs. Veronique David, Aurelie Majourau-Bouriez and Patrick Goudot (France). Dr. Nigel Harradine (UK) presented the opening lecture looking back over 40 years of clinical changes in orthodontics, followed by Dr. Javier Alvarez Carlon (Spain) who gave an address reviewing 50 years of Spanish orthodontics and the growth of SEDO as an organization.

The EOS has always attracted many postgraduate students, giving them the opportunity to make short presentations and display posters and as usual, there was a very large poster area with dedicated viewing time. EOS conferences are also renowned for the social functions and opportunities to meet and network with colleagues and the 95th Annual Conference fulfilled delegates’ expectations.

Dr. Allan R. Thom, president of the WFO, presented a plaque of appreciation and recognition to the 2019 European Orthodontic Society president, Dr. Olivier Sorel.

The Thai Association of Orthodontists’ (ThaAO) Scientific Conference took place July 11-12, 2019 at Centara Grand and Bangkok Convention Centre @ CentralWorld, with the theme “Development of Expertise In Orthodontics.” Dr. Rolf G. Behrents, orthodontic educator and editor-in-chief of the American Journal of Orthodontics and Dentofacial Orthodontics, was keynote speaker. The scientific programs were also filled to capacity with lectures given by several Thai speakers on the second day. In total, about 400 local and international dentists, orthodontists and trade exhibitors joined the conference. The event included the presentation of the WFO Regional Award of Merit to Dr. Somchai Satravaha. Dr. Yanheng Zhou (WFO Executive Committee member and Asian Pacific Orthodontic Society president, came to the event specifically to honor Dr. Satravaha and make the award presentation. (See additional information about Dr. Satravaha’s award on page 8.)

The special “Postgrad Night” was also held for the first time in several years to foster good relationships and camaraderie among the postgraduate orthodontic students, their instructors and the ThaAO Executive Committee members. This enjoyable night was sponsored by the ThaAO and was organized by Khon Kaen University’s Orthodontic Department. It is expected that this will become an annual event going forward. The next “Postgrad Night” will be held in July 2020 and the postgraduate orthodontic students from Naresuan University will be responsible for organizing the event.
